The VFX Supervisor Daily

MONDAY 9 NOVEMBER 2026

Public VP stages and co-production deals could change how small studios bid

Swipe for the stories →

PUBLIC VIRTUAL PRODUCTION CAPACITY

CJ OliveNetworks Wins South Korea's KOCCA Contracts for Daejeon Virtual Production Studio and DMS UHD Post-Production U...

• finance.biggo.com

So what: A public LED wall of 18.5m by 8m, aimed at small producers, could undercut private VP stage costs in Korean-linked bids

PUBLIC VIRTUAL PRODUCTION CAPACITY

When the actor moves, the virtual background follows the actor... CJ OliveNetworks wins K-content production facility project

• mk.co.kr

So what: The stated aim of cutting costs and timelines, plus UHD/HDR post for OTT delivery specs, shows what public facilities will pitch against independents

CO-PRODUCTION ROUTES FOR ANIMATION

Brisbane's Like a Photon Creative looks to Ireland for animated feature Familiar

• screenhub.com.au

So what: Elephant Goldfish's role on a seven-film slate shows a new Irish VFX and post partner for animation work, with finance tied to the treaty

AI-BUILT ANIMATION AND THE OSCARS

VFXwire - VFX news: visual effects, film, games & animation

• vfxwire.com

So what: An awards ruling on an AI-built feature could set the tone for how clients and voters treat ML-assisted work

GODZILLA AND THE VALUE OF VFX-LED FILMS

‘Godzilla Minus Zero’ roars with $63m at global box office; ‘Ramayana: Rise Of A Legend’ strong with $52.2m; ‘The Cat In T...

• screendaily.com

So what: A $63m global opening for a Japanese-made sequel to an Oscar-winning VFX film backs the case for VFX-driven work outside the studio system

State-funded virtual production space and treaty co-productions are giving small teams routes to big-studio capability.

The VFX Supervisor Daily

Subscribe for the next issue:

thevfxsupervisor.com/daily